

environmentally damaged skin

Environmental factors take their toll on your skin, resulting in clinical signs of premature and sun-induced ageing, leaving your skin with a combination of skin conditions such as dryness, dehydration, premature ageing, occasional break-outs and slight hyperpigmentation.

The Nimue Environmentally Damaged skincare range is scientifically formulated to address the signs of ageing by improving cell rejuvenation and overall skin health.

skin health prescription

When starting your Nimue Skin prescription you may experience a Transitional Period. This is a temporary skin condition that may occur due to the introduction of specific active ingredients that have a positive effect on the function and structure of the skin.

Continue with your Nimue Skin homecare as prescribed during this Transitional Period in order for the skin's function to normalise and ultimately achieve optimum skin health.
